

What is fuels reduction and survivable space?

Fuels reduction is the removal of fuels around your property to reduce the risk of catastrophic damage to your vegetation or home.

Survivable space is the modification of fuels, your surrounding areas and your building materials which can reduce the chance of home ignition even without firefighter intervention.

Before and After Fuel Reduction

The left side of the road is natural. The right side shows a completed mitigation project near Columbus.